Baseball practice is now well under way for the twenty-five or thirty candidates who reported last Thursday. Each day there is good stiff batting practice and a chance for the pitchers to speed 'em over. A new system of practicing has been adopted by Capt. Erhardt, under which half-hour periods in the Gym are assigned to groups of five men each. This schedule is so arranged as to prevent any conflict with classes. On days when Prof. Chase holds his gymnasium classes, these periods are cut down to fifteen minutes each. The pitchers and catchers are not directly affected by this arrangement, as they have battery practice at other times on the running track.

Miller, '16, has been coaching the prospective pitchers. Those who have reported for this position are Fulton, '15, Fulton, Daniels, '16, Petersen, Whitman, '17, Root and Schwartz, '18. For catcher the candidates are Miller, W. Gow, '16, Russell and C. M. Peck, '18. In addition to these men the following have also reported for various positions: Higgins, McLouth, Whitcombe, Aldrich, M. Gow, Griffith, '16, Donohue, Donoghue, Behan, Fraser, Whitcombe, '17, Otto, Cavanaugh, Fursman, Griffith, Powers and Jones, '18.

Manager Smith has not yet completed all arrangements for the trip which the team will make at Easter, but it is certain that the trip will include games with Fordham, N. Y. U., and Lehigh. The Rutgers game, formerly mentioned as a probability, does not take place until May 29th. The management has plans under way for several other games, and expects to have the schedule for the trip completed within a few days.

The schedule as printed above includes thirteen games, five of which are on the home grounds. The home games have all been arranged at the last of the season, to allow plenty

PROF. PUPIN HERE MARCH 18.

Servian Consul General to Speak in Myers Course.

On Thursday evening, March 18, the Myers course on Public Affairs will close with a lecture by Prof. Michael Idvorsky Pupin, who will talk on the war question from the Servian viewpoint. The speaker is Professor of Electrical Engineering at Columbia, and is noted the world over as an electrical inventor. He is also Servian Consul General, and president of the American Servian Society.

SOPHS DEFEAT NEWPORT HIGH

Hamiltonians Win An Easy Victory 36 to 15.

Last Friday the Sophomore basketball team defeated Newport High School in the Gym by a score of 36 15, after taking half the game to hit their stride. Newport played a consistent and clean game, and few fouls were called for either side. The score at the end of the first half was only 14 to 10 in favor of 1917, but in the second period they picked up rapidly, and by speedy playing made 22 points to their opponents 5.

When the game started the line-ups were:

Newport: Spellman rf, Daly lf, Stillman c, Lankton (captain) lg, Grant rg.

1917: Behan lf, Pendleton rf, Brockway c, Donoghue (captain) lg, Donohue rg.

Banks, '16, refereed. Halves, 20 minutes and 15 minutes.

COLLEGE SONG BOOK POPULAR.

Half of the First Edition is Already Taken.

The subscriptions for the new College Song Book are coming in as fast as can be expected. About 265 copies have already been sold, according to Lee, '15, who is managing the sales. The Alumni are responding well to the letters sent out last week, and it is expected most of the edition will be sold by the time the books arrive on the Hill.

The edition consists of six hundred copies. Five hundred of them are bound in cloth, fifty in half Turkey morocco, and the other fifty are to remain unbound, uncut, and untrimmed for future use in binding. The cover, designed by Wibel and Clement of New York, has been approved by Dr. Saunders. The exact date of publication now depends on Biglow and Main, the publishers.

LOST AND FOUND.

—The student who borrowed No. 4, Vol. 28, of the Publications of the Modern Languages Association is kindly requested to return the same to Prof. Brandt.

THE CHAMPIONS.

SOPHOMORES BEAT FRESHMEN TO CHAMPIONSHIP, 16 TO 9

Fast Playing and Close Guarding by Both Teams in Last Game of Interfraternity Basketball Series. Superior Team-work Wins.

After having defeated last year's champions, the 1916 team, by the close score of 13 to 10, the Sophomore team carried away the palm from the Freshmen in the final game of the interclass basketball series on Monday night, with a safe margin to spare. The final score stood: 1917, 16; 1918, 9.

The deciding contest this year did not arouse as much interest as the close finish of last year was responsible for, but nevertheless the game was by no means a walk-away. The Sophomores practically cinched the championship by winning from the former champions in the first game of the series, played on March 1. On Wednesday, March 3, the Freshmen had no difficulty in trimming the defenceless Senior team, winning by 20 to 4.

Both Sides in Training.

This left an open field for the two underclasses, both of which had been playing together for some weeks to get into shape for the series. The Sophomore team had the advantage on this score. They had previously played two games, losing by 4 points to U. F. A., and defeating Newport High School.

In a preliminary game played a week ago Friday, 1917 defeated the Frosh to the tune of 20 to 12, which gave a good index to the probable outcome of the later game. In spite of this, there was the largest crowd of the year assembled in the Gym, when the game was called on Monday night, and they were right there with the yells, particularly the Freshmen, who, it must be said, showed better spirit than their rusty opponents on that occasion.

The game opened auspiciously for 1918, but their lead was soon overcome by the Sophs, who never lost their advantage after the first few minutes. At the end of the first half the score stood 7 to 3 in their favor. Close guarding on both sides was responsible for the small scoring, altho it loosened up long enough in the second half to allow more frequent baskets. Behan was well guarded by Russell, but managed to score three baskets, besides making good four fouls. Root and Russell did the fastest work for the Freshmen. The shooting of both teams was wild in spots. Russell even attempted to make a basket for the Sophomores, but didn't succeed. The line up:

1917: Behan lf, Pendleton rf, Brock-

RELAY SQUAD SHOWS PROMISING FORM

Coach Risley on the Hill Last Wednesday, Says He Is Well Pleased With Prospects.

"Every day at the Gym at five o'clock for hard work on the track, and in the meantime take good care of yourself." That is the watchword for about eighteen men who are trying out for the relay team. Work has been begun in real earnest. Last Wednesday Coach Risley was on the Hill to watch the men and was well-pleased with their work. Capt. Lee will have charge of the daily practice except on Wednesday and Friday, when Potter, '15, will be in charge.

A training table has been started at Commons with about twelve men.

Coach Risley was well pleased with the prospects and said so. When asked about the relay team, he said: "I am very well satisfied with the new material. What I saw of it this afternoon makes me feel better than I did from what the fellows told me before. There are five or six among the newer candidates who ought to be good relay men. They are well built for quarter-milers. The thing for them to do now is to train, be careful of themselves, and take Capt. Lee's advice. I will post the season's training rules soon, but in the meantime the ordinary rules apply. You can say for me that with this material I am confident of a good showing. I don't believe in boasts, so all I will say is we are not contesting for last place and won't get it."

Risley seemed so well pleased and enthusiastic for the relay prospects that he had little to say about the other track work. However, he wants all the squad to understand that there are plenty of places where he can use new men on the team, and that it is up to them to show their best

Manager Thorne, in charge of the Intercollegiates, which will be run off at the Deerfield race track on May 22, is at present looking over designs for a permanent form of medal for this meet. Heretofore, a different kind has been used every year. If the different colleges participating vote for a regulation medal, a design will be made appropriate for the meet. It will probably bear the New York State seal, and will be heavier and of better quality than those furnished in former years.

REYNOLDS OPTIMISTIC ABOUT COMING SEASON

Football Team Will Lose LaForce, Brockway and Keddy, but 16 Veterans Make Up for Loss.

In the opinion of Coach Reynolds the football outlook for next season is a rosy one. The Coach made a brief visit to the Hill last Wednesday to confer with Capt. Pope, and set the wheels in motion for the new squad.

A meeting of the football candidates was called, at which twenty-one men reported to receive instructions concerning the Spring practice. When the squad can get out on the field there will be regular practice in drop- and place-kicking, punting and handling the ball. The greater part of the work will fall to the backs at first, but the entire squad will also be drilled in running thru signals, to make them familiar with all the simpler plays and formations.

Capt. Pope hopes to send every man away for the Summer vacation all prepared to rush into work in the opening days of College. The fact that the first game is scheduled for the second day after College opens makes early preparation necessary.

Sixteen Veterans.

The loss by graduation of Captain LaForce, who did most of the passing and punting last season, and of Brockway and Keddy, will leave a big hole in the line-up, but "Pete" believes that the improved team-work of the experienced players who remain will offset this loss.

"If the men now in College come back next year," he said, "we will have sixteen men with at least one season's training in football, and enough of a nucleus from last year's team to make our chances pretty good. I feel quite confident that this number of seasoned players will make up for the absence of particular stars."

Team May Be Numbered.

Reynolds will be back on the Hill at intervals during the Spring to supervise practice. Neither he nor Capt. Pope have made any decision yet as to the numbering of the players, a policy followed by Princeton, Syracuse, and a number of other colleges last year, and under consideration by Yale and Harvard at present. They believe that this is not a matter which needs to be dealt with at once, and are in favor of leaving it for consideration at a later date.

Those Lights Again.

For three nights last week, one quarter of the rooms in Carnegie Hall were more or less completely without light, causing not only discomfort but great inconvenience to the men who occupy the eight rooms affected. This was merely the latest manifestation of the imperfect lighting system which has been the source of much trouble and needless expense on various parts of the Campus for years.

Two years ago, when electricity was first installed in Carnegie, the wiring was discovered to be alarmingly defective. In the first four days after the system was put in, the meter in Mr. DeRegt's home, which was connected with the same system, registered seven dollars worth of current consumed. More than once since that date the lighting system of Carnegie has been examined and a needless escape of current discovered, but the simple task of rectifying the defects has been put off and put off. During the first semester of 1912-13, the cost of lights in the two hallways was nearly $200, while in South, where eight bathrooms are included in addition, the bill was $90. On that occasion the Trustees shouldered the cost of the estimated waste, three quarters of the total amount, but ever since then the students have paid for it. At present the 40 odd men in Carnegie are paying just about double for what they actually use in the hallways, and the meter has been spinning merrily on day and night.

This waste of current has probably been caused by the splicing of wires which are carried in pipes. The condition has been known for two years, but up to two days ago no serious steps had been taken to remedy it. On Monday another examination of the wiring was begun. Let us hope that this time the matter will be settled once for all.

The Myers Lectures.

Next week will witness the fourth of the John Ripley Myers lectures for this year, and with it the close of the second year of the Myers course. When the course began, two years ago, some doubt was expressed among those interested as to the success with which it would meet, as no course of the same nature had ever been offered at Hamilton before. In the final analysis, the success of any such institution depends on the support of the students, and altho students had more than once previously expressed a desire for such a course of lectures on extra-curricular subjects, to be given by men who are recognized authorities, this was the first opportunity of putting their attitude to the test.

The results obtained last year were gratifying and convincing. The attendance at all the Army lectures was good, and the students proved that their appreciation of the opportunity to hear the lectures was more than sufficient to warrant their continuance. This attitude was the more remarkable in that the subjects were highly technical, and the lectures were read from papers by officers unaccustomed to lecturing.

This year the subject originally announced for the course was, "The United States Navy," presumably to furnish a companion series to that of last year. Happily, on account of the military exigencies caused by the state of affairs in Europe, this subject had to be abandoned. In its place topics connected with the present war were selected, and four speakers of national note were secured. Prof. Wambaugh of Harvard, Will Irwin, and Prof. John Bates Clark of Columbia, each authorities in their own department, treated three different aspects of the war, while the last lecture is to be delivered a week from Thursday by Prof. Pupin of Columbia, Servian Consul General.

In spite of the fact that the novelty of the lectures has had time to wear off, the response of the students has been even better than in the previous year. We believe that this conclusively demonstrates one thing, namely, that the Myers lectures should be on topics which are of general interest, and presented in the most attractive manner. The College has shown its appreciation of the course. The only problem in future is to select subjects of widest appeal. The undergraduate is not so limited in his interests as to make this task very difficult.

The course of lectures, which is now nearing completion, has not only dealt with the subject uppermost in the minds of civilized nations, but monotony has been avoided by the manner of its presentation. Each speaker has treated a phase distinct, which he was peculiarly qualified to present forcefully. Statistics have been noticeably absent, but the material has been drawn from personal experience, and has been driven home in the minds of the hearers.

The College owes its heartiest thanks to Mr. Bristol and Mr. Rogers for the effort expended in their administration of the fund. Meanwhile, it hopes that their choice of subject next year will be as fortunate.

LIGHT CONTRACT TRANSFERRED.

Clinton Hematite Mines Co. Now Furnishes College Current.

Along in February the College began to notice that their electric lights were on all day and not just during the hours of darkness as formerly. On investigation they learned that this was due to a change in the source of the current. On February 6, the Franklin Springs Electric Light Company gave over their contract to the Clinton Hematite Mines Co., who supply power day and night. College Hill has an entirely separate circuit of its own, and so is independent of the village. In case the lights should give out in Clinton, the College will not be affected.

Comments have also been made on the fact that the lights blink for a second at six o'clock in the afternoon and at eleven in the evening. The Clinton Hematite Mines Co. has two dynamos, the larger one doing the heavy part of the work from 6 p. m. to 11 p. m. The smaller dynamo supplies the current during the remainder of the time. The blink comes when the power is transferred from one dynamo to the other.

The light bills are made out in the name of the College Hill Electric Light Co., owing to a Public Service Commission technicality, but all checks should be made out to the Clinton Hematite Mines Co.

INTERCLASS TRACK MEET.

Date for Annual Indoor Contest Set At March 26.

After much deliberation, Captain Lee and Director Chase have decided that Friday, March 26, shall be the date for the Interclass Track Meet in the Gymnasium. All those on the Track squad will be eligible as competitors. Altho Director Chase is not positive as yet whether it will be possible, he hopes to have Coach Risley there to referee the events.

The schedule is as follows: 22-yard dash; mile relay, each man running 440-yards; shot put; standing broad jump; running hop, step and jump; high jump.

It is hoped that as last year the entire Meet may be run off in the evening of the date set. Last year, 1917 was victorious, and the prospects look good for a renewal of their victory.

of time for the completion of the diamond. As soon as the state of the ground permits, Jack Miller, assistant care-taker of the Polo Grounds, will be on hand to finish the work of remodeling.

Until after Easter, practice will be held entirely in the cage. Coach Toerner will be on the Hill on March 25 to take charge of the squad and lick them into shape for the Easter trip.

In the second of the preliminary interclass games, which was played last Wednesday, the Freshmen took the honors from the Seniors by the decisive score of 20 to 4. Half the College turned out to see it, and there was plenty of "pep." "Gummy" White was the chief side-show and performed his usual acrobatic stunts amid cheers from the gallery. The game was characterized by loose playing on both sides. The Freshmen divided scoring honors. Jessup and Russell each scored six points, while Otto got away with two field baskets, and Root and Fursman tallied once. Erhardt, captain of the 1915 team, did all the scoring for the Seniors. Keddy, '15, at guard, played well, allowing Root but one basket.

DOZEN MEN GO TO HARTFORD.

Martin, '11, and J. H. Potter Address College on Subject of Conference.

Thursday morning at Chapel, Theodore D. Martin, '11, and James H. Potter, '12, Union, spoke to the College about the coming Conference of Eastern College Men at Hartford, Conn., which is to take place on March 19-21, as previously announced. In the short space of time allotted to them, Mr. Martin and Mr. Potter presented the program of the conference and the advantages of attendance at such a gathering.

Both remained on the Hill over Friday in order to see personally those men who intended to be present at the Hartford gathering. About eleven men expressed their desire to make the trip, and of these, six will officially represent the Hamilton Y. M. C. A. They are Fulton, '15, Kimball, '15, Mattoon, '16, Bergner, '16, Lyon, '17, and Dise, '17. It is expected that several hundred college men of the east will meet at the conference.

At its close there will be an opportunity for private conference between college men and seminary men.

—The following committees have been appointed for Senior class activities: Banquet committee, Sherwood, Keddy, Ingersoll; Commencement invitation committee, Higbie, Hudson, Ogilvie; Cap-and-Gown committee, Little, White, Woodcock.

HAMILTONIAN PROMISED FOR FIRST WEEK IN MAY

Editor Counts on Large Alumni Market for the Book, to Get It into the Hands of Sub-Freshmen.

(By F. P. Kimball, '16.)

A plan has been hit upon by the management of the Hamiltonian for placing the book in the hands of preparatory school boys thru the purchases of alumni, which should bring a wide response from men who want to see the College grow. Many of the features of the 1916 book are of a nature that will appeal to sub-Freshmen particularly, while for the Alumnus and the undergraduates they are features indispensable. In order to swell the movement for a larger Hamilton, the Hamiltonian board found it advisable to give the book a wider appeal than has hitherto been given it, with a result that the annual hits the sub-Freshmen demand on the head. Support of the Alumni, it is ernestly hoped, will be forthcoming.

Some of the distinctive features of the book are five articles written on the general subject, "What Hamilton Means To Me," by Senator Elihu Root, '64, Samuel H. Adams, '91, Chester S. Lord, '73, Henry Kitchell Webster, '97, and James Arthur Seavey, '90. These articles deal directly with what is most vital at Hamilton, and carry the prestige of the men who wrote them. The board believes that these articles alone would justify the publication of the book. Nothing so definite or concise has ever been published before about Hamilton College. The undergraduate will learn something very real about his College in reading them; the Alumnus will find s own ideas about his Alma Mater rystalized by them; and it would be a very poor sort of sub-Freshman who would fail to be interested in what these men have to say.

Other features of the book are well-known, including six full page Campus views and a beautiful half-tone of the Chapel; the music of "Carissima"; the Junior Class "scurfs"; and a full page half-tone of Dr. Stryker, which precedes the Faculty section of the book. This picture is Dr. Stryker's latest and best photograph.

The regular College departments will be given full space, as in former books. Some new ideas have been sprung which will materially improve the appearance of the book, and, of course, the "humorous" matter, which from time-honored custom, has held sway in the rear pages, will create the usual percentage of hysterics. The article especially referred to by the above statement is a memorial entitled, "Spring Super." The board has secured some good "stunt" pictures, showing many interesting things from Fat Ogil., embracing a tree trunk to Budge Peck eating sausage, all of which are expected to make their own distinct appeal.

The greater part of the book is now in the hands of the printer, and assurances are given that it will be ready for sale on about May 1.

"LIT." SHOWS EFFORT, SAYS PROF. SHEPARD

February Number Contains Interesting Article on "The Campus," and One Well-Executed Short Story.

(By Prof. W. P. Shepard.)

The function of the College magazine is, I take it, to act as show window for the 'prentice work of the budding genius, to uncover the light hidden under the bushel of class-room dulness. Its friends and critics, therefore, need not be too nice in their appreciations; encouragement should reward efforts which are by no means always mediocre, tho they are apt to be imitative as well as immature. The Lit. has had a long and honorable history, and has done much to help on the talent of many sons of Hamilton who have since won fame in the writer's craft. So I must begin, properly, by praising the honesty of purpose and evident, if often painful, effort shown by the contributors to the present number. All reach a certain level of achievement, tho it cannot be said that the number, as a whole, rises much above the commonplace. It is, in fact, both in the number and the quality of its contributions inferior to some earlier issues of the current year. Nevertheless, it should be recognized that the writers have striven, in nearly every case, to find something to say and to say it clearly and honestly, without the false sentiment and false syntax sometimes displayed.

Essays Well Written.

Of the two serious contributions, Mr. Barto's prize essay is well-written and informatory, and evidently deserved the reward it received. Mr. Davis' article on the "Hamilton Campus" is, for an "old grad," by far the most interesting of all. Mr. Davis writes, clearly and intelligently, of a by-gone Hamilton, of which all would like to hear more. Why cannot he give us a series of such articles, historical in nature, to heighten the interest which the older alumni feel in the magazine, and to tell the present generation of the ways of their fathers?

"Winter Storm" Best of Verse.

The verse of the number is, in quality, extremely uneven. The best is Mr. Keddy's "Winter Storm," which, tho reminiscent of Poe, is skilfully done, with a real sense of the value of words and with no direct imitations. The improvement in Mr. Keddy's verse during the past year has been quite marked and should receive due recognition. "A Soldier's Requiem," tho given the place of honor, hardly deserves it. The theme is a good one, and while I personally dislike extremely such a mingling of rimed and unrimed lines, I am aware that it is not unexampled. But I do not see how either the author or the editor could have let pass such a line as "A life eclipsed ere it had but begun," which is surely rank cacophony. As to the author of the remaining poems,—

"s'il fait quelque chose,
C'est proser de la rime et rimer de la prose."

The "Indian Dance" might easily have been made the subject of a descriptive article in prose equally vivid and amusing. The verse misses being either. And I fail to see—so old is the thought—why "A Dream" need have been related at all.

Praise for Kimball's Story.

The longest and most ambitious single contribution is the experiment in the short story called "The Shadow across the Path." The author, Mr. Kimball, is evidently gaining in ease and in mastery of this difficult "genre." He deserves every encouragement. The conception of this story, tho not strictly original, is worked out in an original manner and the dialogue is deftly handled, far better, in fact, than the descriptive passages. I wonder if the author had in mind, while writing it, the unwritten story described by Andrew Lang, where "not being fond of love scenes, we made the heroine disappear in the second chapter, and she never turned up again till chapter the last." Only Mr. Kimball's heroine fails to turn up at all. This writer shows likewise too great a fondness for what the French call "clichés," such stock in trade as "grim and challenging," "making his way up the ladder of achievement," "turning of the tide," "dumb, appealing eyes,"—beautiful words which go forever in pairs, and which may have been new in the time of Ung the Cave-man. In regard to the other story, "A Sheltering Vice," I must confess to a feeling of perplexity. Is it a carefully concealed hoax, or a "tall tale of a desperate deed?" Like Mr. H. Togo, I ask to know. But I am afraid that the author will again "smile without answering."

The editorial and other features of the magazine do not call for extended notice. They are well written and add to its permanent value.

In conclusion, I wish, like some previous critics, to appeal for more accurate proof-reading on the part of the editors. Surely such verbal monstrosities as "chlldren," "uesd," and "gaceful" do not add to the "gacefulness" of the page.

MORE DATES FOR CHARLATANS

Mgr. Ogilvie Has Arranged Performances in Oneida and Utica.

Manager Ogilvie has definitely arranged two more performances of "Believe Me, Xantippe" by the Charlatans, both in the latter part of April. The first of these will be given at Oneida on Friday evening, April 23, and the second in Utica at the New Century Auditorium on Tuesday evening, April 27, for the benefit of the Nurses' Home of the Homeopathic Hospital. The Utica performance will be followed by an informal dance.

—Tomorrow night the French Club will meet with Prof. Shepard.

—The Sophomore basketball team will play a return game with Utica Free Academy Friday night in the Gymnasium.

CHESS CLUB IS ACTIVE.

Undergraduate and Faculty Teams Clash Often.

The Chess Club, altho very undemonstrative, and hitherto unobserved, has been active for some time. The team, which consists of Smith, '16, Saunders, Jones and Griffith. '17, has met the Faculty team several times at the home of Prof. Daniel Chase, but has not yet been able to defeat them.

The Faculty players, who are Professors Chase, Ristine, Brown and Clark, have shown more interest than the students. Prof. Chase is at present playing by postal card six games which commenced in October, and are now about half finished. Dr Stryker, Mr. Frank Watson (chess coach), the Faculty team, and some of the students, will take a trip to Utica on Friday to see Capa Blanca, world's champion chess player, give an exhibit of simultaneous games.

ENGLISH LIT. CLUB ORGANIZES.

First Meeting to be Held at Deke House Friday Night.

A new English Literature Club has recently been organized by Prof. Ristine. The members are Clarke, Erhardt, Goodenough, Hulbert, Ingersoll, Kimball, Keddy, Little, McNair, Patton, Sherwood, and Woodcock, all members of the Senior Class in English Literature. The authors who have been selected for study are Tennyson, Browning, Ibsen, Swinburne, Maeterlinck, Wilde, and Thomson. The club will meet every other Friday night. The first meeting will be held on Friday, March 12, at the D. K. E. House, and will be devoted to a study of Tennyson.

EASTERN NEW YORK ALUMNI.

The Alumni Association of Eastern New York will hold an informal smoker on the evening of the twelfth of March, at Albany, N. Y. At that time the Alumni will discuss plans for the ensuing year, and will make preliminary arrangements concerning their proposed banquet, to be held in Albany. J. Howard Hahn, '13, the secretary of the Association, expects to have the plans for the banquet completed within a few weeks.

CHI PSI ENTERTAINS.

On Saturday evening the Chi Psi-Psi U- Alpha Delt orchestra gave a dance at Chi Psi Lodge. The guests were: Mrs. Buckminster and Mrs. Torrey, of Clinton; Mr. and Mrs.Carroll, of Utica; the Misses Dorothy Hobart, Mary Rose Patton, Edna and Julia Gunn, Gwendoline Lamb, Ermine Trude, Jane Patton, of Utica; and Misses Constance Buckminster, Jeannette Ross, Elizabeth Stryker, Marion Lewis, and Joan Buckminster, of Clinton.

The amateur orchestra was composed of: piano, Weed, '17; 1st banjo-mandolin, Banks, '16; 2nd banjo-mandolin, Hill, '18; and drums, Dayton, '17.

HUGH A. MORAN SPEAKS IN SILLIMAN HALL

Member of the International Y. M. C. A. Committee Talks on Choice of Life Work.

Before an interested gathering of undergraduates, at 7.30 Sunday evening in Silliman Hall, Mr. Hugh A. Moran, Leland Stanford, '05, spoke on the subject, "Fundamental Life Work Decision." His topic suited him well, for altho young, Mr. Moran has had wide experience in the world of men of all nations. He was in China at the outbreak of the Revolution there a few years ago.

In his talk Sunday evening, Mr. Moran gave some good, sound advice to all who have any outlook toward the future. He said in part:

"Don't drift, for that is what leads a man to the bread-line. A receipt that I would suggest for a fellow who cannot make up his mind is to read biographies, and read lots of them."

He also presented the problem analytically, showing how a decision might easily be reached by noting down one's abilities as opposed to one's restrictions, in the regular balance-sheet-form. And after the decision is made, a mission in life, or a mastering purpose, should serve as a guide. "Don't seek success. Seek to serve, and success will come as a by-product."

The first speaker in the course of five lectures this month made a decided impression upon those present, and remained on the Hill over Monday in order to interview a number of undergraduates personally. On the last date in the course, March 28, Dr. George B. Stewart, President of Auburn Theological Seminary, will address the College at the regular Sunday Chapel hour. His subject will be "The Ministry." President Stryker most willingly granted the substitution. The Sunday previous, March 21, either Mr. John M. Fitch, of the New York "Survey" or Mr. Henry W. Thurston, of the N. Y. School of Philanthropy, will be heard at Silliman Hall, on the subject "Social Service."

Mr. Fitch is at present serving in the New York State Department of Labor, is a member of the American Economics Association, and the American Association for Labor Legislation, as well as a contributor to several prominent magazines. Mr. Thurston, a Dartmouth man, is head of the Sociology department at Chicago Normal School, and is prominent in Juvenile Aid work in that city.

Dr. Adrian S. Taylor, a graduate of the University of Virginia, and a medical missionary in China, is on the Hill today, in place of Mr. Ramsaur, who found it impossible to come. He will speak on the Student Volunteer Movement. Friday and Saturday, as announced, Mr. C. K. Ober will be on the Hill, bringing with him Mr. Roberts, of the New York Y. M. C. A. They will give addresses on the Fellowship Plan, with the idea of inducing undergraduates to take up Y. M. C. A. work.
